

ABSTRACT:

The current invention relates to a method of identifying changes in biopolymers, especially in chromosomal DNA, using two or more different sets of labelled detector molecules, as well as to a diagnostic kit for detecting these changes.